Dear Media Representatives,

I am honored to invite you to experience the excitement of our sport at the upcoming 52nd IBU World Championships in Hochfilzen, Austria. This event has a symbolic meaning: back in 1958, the first World Championships took place also in Austria, at Saalfelden, writing the first chapter in modern biathlon history. Back then the World Championships were only for men, with one competition: the classic 20K individual. Just think about the way biathlon has developed and grown in the last six decades. The IBU today offers attractive competitions for both men and women with dynamic, entertaining and easy-to-follow formats.

I am truly convinced that the Hochfilzen OC will organize the competitions on the highest level. It has everything a biathlon venue can offer: a long history, rich traditions: a cheerful and enthusiastic crowd, and breath-taking natural surroundings.

The new indoor shooting hall, service building, wax cabins, changing rooms, VIP stands, and commentator boxes, are just some of the facilities built or remodeled to ensure that the 2017 IBU WCH will be a great event.

What does it take to become a World Champion? Strength, self-confidence, winning attitude, the right strategy and the ability to be a risk taker are all important. Very soon we will know who claimed the long-anticipated medals. It will be on you to capture these moments of glory, excitement or sometimes disappointment in your photograph and stories.

Behind a beautiful image of biathlon competition there is an enormous effort of all people working for the sport: organizers, referees, press, and volunteers. I would like to thank all of them for outstanding performance and established high standards; also a special thanks to all our right holders, sponsors, partners and suppliers. The biathlon family is living and developing in an excellent way due to your contributions.

Let the show begin!

My kindest and warmest regards,

Anders Besseberg

IBU President

Dear Biathlon Friends,

The IBU World Championships Biathlon have returned to Hochfilzen. Twelve years after the last international championships we are once again welcoming the best biathletes in the world to a medal event in the PillerseeTal.

When the IBU Congress of Meran, South Tyrol in 2012 awarded the WCH 2017 to Hochfilzen, there was no limit to the joy of the Austrian delegation. After being awarded the World Championships, a process has been set in motion that may be considered unique in the history of sports in Austria. Preparations for this event have been taken on in unanimity never seen before. The Austrian government, the State of the Tyrol, the village of Hochfilzen, the Austrian Ski Federation and the host, HSV Hochfilzen, along with its many volunteers have all been acting in concert. Infrastructure has seen major improvements with the Department of Defense and Sports and the State of the Tyrol covering a major share of the costs. The improved and augmented biathlon stadium is one of the most modern facilities of its kind and will provide the best conditions for the upcoming World Championships. One has to conclude that the WCH preparations of Hochfilzen have to be classified as a "Festival of Synergy" without exaggeration. Given this model co-operation between Army and Sports all participants deserve highest praise and appreciation.

I am sure that the Biathlon WCH 2017 Hochfilzen will be another grand milestone in the vastly successful series of major ski sports events of the Austrian Ski Federation and I wish everyone involved some fine days in Hochfilzen and great World Championships.

HOCHFILZEN

Located at an altitude of 1.000 meters above sea level, the village of Hochfilzen is one of the five villages in the PillerseeTal along with Fieberbrunn, St. Jakob im Haus, St. Ulrich am Pillersee and Waidring. There are several reasons why the Biathlon World Cup, as well as, high-level cross country events is hosted by the 1150-population village each year. On the one hand the PillerseeTal is one of the snowiest regions in Tyrol and on the other it also offers diverse net of cross country tracks. A hundred kilometers for both skiing styles, classic and skate, are groomed each day.

Nordic Sport has a long tradition in the PillerseeTal: Hochfilzen has already hosted the Biathlon World Championships twice in 1978 and 2005. And once again the PillerseeTal is characterized by IBU World Championships Biathlon in 2017.

TYROL - HOLIDAYS IN THE HEART OF THE ALPS

Visitors to Tyrol will experience a majestic and enchanting mountain landscape sure to touch their soul. Countless outdoor activities and a warm welcome make holidays in this stunning region an unforgettable experience.

"Here I have finally found a place of quiet, a place of peace, the like of which I could have only wished for," wrote Johann Wolfgang von Goethe about Tyrol in 1829. Today, many visitors still come to this region in the west of Austria to leave behind their worries, escape the stress of everyday life and be at one with nature. With more than 500 peaks over 3,000m, more than 600 glaciers along the main alpine ridge, lush green meadows and charming huts, this area boasts a truly unique landscape.

DISCOVER TYROL

Outdoor enthusiasts are spoilt with choice in Tyrol, both in summer and winter. Hiking and rock climbing are popular activities in the warm summer months, while in winter many people come to Tyrol for alpine skiing, cross-country skiing and tobogganing in the enchanting snowy landscape. From the Ötztal, Paznauntal, Pitztal, Zillertal and Stubaital Valleys to East Tyrol, Lake Achensee, the regional capital Innsbruck and the legendary resort of Kitzbühel: Tyrol's villages, towns and regions are famous for their traditional customs and celebrations as well as for being home to museums and other cultural attractions of the highest quality. Local inns are the ideal place to sample some of the delicious local specialties and relax after a long day out and about in the fresh air. And when things hot up in summer, there are plenty of crystal clear lakes to cool off, let your thoughts wander and simply lose yourself in the moment.

KITZBÜHEL ALPS

Accounting for a significant proportion of Tyrol's total surface area, the majestic Kitzbühel Alps extend from the Wilder Kaiser Massif in the north to the Hohe Tauern National Park in the south and from the Zillertal Valley in the west to the Saalachtal Valley in the east. They are known well beyond Austria as a popular holiday destination, not least because of the many sports and outdoor activities on offer. The region has nine wintersports resorts catering for both alpine and cross-country skiers of all abilities, with the slopes in Westendorf, Kirchberg, Hopfgarten and Fieberbrunn particularly suited to families with children.

Extending across pristine meadows and rolling hills between Kitzbühel Alps and Wilder Kaiser Mountain Range, a hidden world of beauty and adventure invites winter enthusiasts to discover the joy of cross country skiing. Explore the trails around St. Johann in Tirol, in Pillerseetal Valley, which is endowed with some of the deepest snowfall in the Kitzbühel Alps, and in Hohe Salve Region. The well-marked trail network features over 700 kilometers of tracked and skate-groomed terrain for skiers, ideally suited to all ability levels, from novice to expert. There is no fee to use the trails in the Kitzbühel Alps; a small fee applies to the trails in Pillerseetal Valley. Looking for a memorable night skiing experience? Sections of the village XC ski tracks in Waidring and in Hochfilzen are lit for night skiing.

The Biathlon World Cup has already made several stops in Hochfilzen, followed by the IBU WCH 2017.

TRADITION, RELAXATION AND FINE DINING

In summer there is a large network of hiking, cycling and mountain biking trails leading along the valley floor and up into the mountains. Further outdoor activities include whitewater rafting and paragliding, while visitors looking to unwind can simply enjoy the views or head for one of the spas or swimming lakes in the region.

As in other regions of Tyrol, the people living in the Kitzbühel Alps are proud of their customs and traditions, many of which date back centuries. Processions and celebrations are held in most towns and villages throughout the year. The region's largest agglomerations, first and foremost Kitzbühel, Wörgl and St. Johann in Tirol, offer good shopping and plenty of restaurants serving local delicacies.

For further information visit www.tyrol.com. This website is the official online travel guide to Tyrol. Here you will find information about all towns, villages and holiday regions as well as about sporting activities (everything from hiking to skiing), cultural highlights, nearby attractions and special events. And, of course, you can use the website to search for and book accommodation.

GENERAL INFORMATION ABOUT AUSTRIA *

Austria, officially the Republic of Austria (German: Republik Österreich) is a federal republic and a landlocked country of over 8.7 million people in Central Europe. It is bordered by the Czech Republic and Germany to the north, Hungary and Slovakia to the east, Slovenia and Italy to the south, and Switzerland and Liechtenstein to the west. The territory of Austria covers 83,879 km². The terrain is highly mountainous, lying within the Alps; only 32% of the country is below 500 m and its highest point is 3,798 m. The majority of the population speaks local Bavarian dialects of German as their native language, and Austrian German in its standard form is the country's official language. Other local official languages are Hungarian, Burgenland Croatian, and Slovene.

ADMINISTRATIVE DIVISIONS

As a federal republic, Austria is divided into nine states (German: Bundesländer). The states are not mere administrative divisions but have some legislative authority distinct from the federal government, e.g. in matters of culture, social care, youth and nature protection, hunting, building, and zoning ordinances.

AUSTRIA IS DIVIDED INTO NINE FEDERAL PROVINCES:

- Vienna (Wien)
- Lower Austria (Niederösterreich)
- Upper Austria (Oberösterreich)
- Salzburg (Salzburg)
- Carinthia (Kärnten)
- Tyrol (Tirol)
- Vorarlberg (Vorarlberg)
- Styria (Steiermark)
- Burgenland (Burgenland)

DEMOGRAPHICS

Austria's population was estimated to be 8.72 million in April 2016 by the Statistik Austria. The population of the capital, Vienna, exceeds 1.8 million (2.6 million, including the suburbs), representing about a quarter of the country's population. It is known for its cultural offerings and high standard of living. Vienna is by far the country's largest city. Graz is second in size, with 265,778 inhabitants, followed by Linz (191,501), Salzburg (145,871), and Innsbruck (122,458). All other cities have fewer than 100,000 inhabitants.

BIATHLON STADIUM HOCHFILZEN

During the preparations for the IBU World Championships Biathlon 2017 the stadium, as well as the venue, have undergone numerous structural improvements. The focus of the first construction phase has been on the new team and service area providing 30 service cabins and changing rooms respectively and which has already been tested during the World Cup in December 2015. Furthermore, a top tier, 570 square meter indoor shooting range which will host the media center during the World Championships has been built. The third and final piece of infrastructure is the newly constructed main building which has been completed in October 2016. It features office space and technical areas as well as the VIP grand stand and TV commentator boxes.

The Biathlon Stadium Hochfilzen is shining in new splendor:

- (1) During the World Championships the indoor shooting range serves as media center – with direct views of the shooting range.
- (2) The team and service building located directly behind the stadium features 30 service cabins and changing rooms respectively.
- (3) The new main building hosts office space, technical areas as well as permanent TV commentator boxes.

HOST BROADCASTER ORF

ORF is Host Broadcaster of the Biathlon World Championship 2017 in Hochfilzen. The Austrian Broadcasting Corporation (ORF), established as a public foundation, is an independent public media company which includes four TV channels and twelve radio programs.

The TV channel ORF eins, where all major sporting events are shown, and ORF 2 achieved 2016 a market share of 33%. ORF is therefore – not only on these two platforms – Austria's market leader by far, and is as well one of the most successful public-service broadcasters in Europe.

For many years, ORF Sport has been among the world's best winter sports broadcasters. This is proved by numerous international awards, including the FIS TV Award for the overall production of the World Championship in Austria - 2001 at St. Anton (alpine) and 1999 in Ramsau (nordic).

As Host Broadcaster, ORF also generated enthusiasm for winter sports at the Alpine Ski World Championships in Schladming (2013 and 1982), in Saalbach-Hinterglemm (1991) as well as in Bad Gastein (1958), at the Olympic Winter Games in Innsbruck (1976 and 1964) or at the Biathlon World Championships in Hochfilzen (2005) and in Feistritz (1989).

A big success for ORF was the World Ski Championships 2013, which ORF produced with innovative technology. 30 cameras, including a cable-car camera, crane cameras, super slow motion and high-speed cameras, provided for World Cup compatible images.

PRODUCTION PHILOSOPHY

The production of an international signal of a Biathlon competition is the greatest challenge for a TV production crew.

The goal of the ORF team is to deliver a top quality, unbiased international coverage in close cooperation with IBU, EBU and the local Organizing Committee Hochfilzen 2017 to a worldwide audience. The clear focus is on the beautiful sport of Biathlon, by telling a definitive storyline of the drama of each race.

We will bring together our top qualified director, producers, camera crews and technicians, experienced in the coverage of major sport events, involved in winter sports for years, devoted to capturing the action, drama and intimacy promised in the World Championships.

Using innovative camera angles and state of the art technic will help the viewers to feel the tension, the twists and the excitement of the competitions.

An essential factor of the production will be the integration of the beautiful landscape of Hochfilzen and the colorful Austrian atmosphere and crowds.

For many decades ORF has been the proud host broadcaster of the Biathlon productions at Hochfilzen and we will give our best to let the audience feel the fascination and emotion of Biathlon.

1989 HOCHFILZEN

The 24th Biathlon World Championships in Feistritz (Austria) were the first to be shared by men and women, and the first where the discipline team competition was held in addition to the relay. There was insufficient snowfall in the state of Carinthia at the time, so the organizers had to truck in snow from the mountains.

RAUBICHI • 90

This time the World Championships were divided into three parts: due to poor snow conditions, Minsk was only able to host the 15 and 20 km Individual. The remaining competitions were all supposed to be held in Oslo, but during the men's relay the fog turned so severe that they had to stop the competition. It was restarted in Kontiolahti.

1991 LAHTI

For the Finnish town of Lahti
it was their third time hosting the battle for the world titles: in 1981 the men's WCH, and in 1987 the women's. 1991 was the first year to see the reunited German team at the start. They cleared the field right away. The current German Ski Federation men's coach, Mark Kirchner, was the most successful athlete: he started in three competitions and won three golds.

1992 NOVOSIBIRSK

Because 1992 was also the year of the Olympic Games – where Mark Kirchner grabbed two golds – the WCH at Novosibirsk consisted of team competitions only. Some of the teams chose not to make the long trip at the end of March to distant Siberia. Estonia seized the opportunity to win its only WCH medal to date: a bronze in the men's competition.

Canadian Myriam Bédard – who one year later in Lillehammer won two Olympic golds – gained for her country Canada's only WCH gold medal to date.

1994 CANMORE, AB

Just as two years before, the team competition was the only discipline on the WCH programme on account of the Olympic Games. The venue, Canmore, had hosted the biathlon competitions at the 1998 Winter Olympic Games. These were its first World Championships – and currently the only WCH held in Canada thus far.

1995 ANTHOLZThis was the fourth time

(after 1975, 1976 and 1983) the Antholz valley became the epicentre of the biathlon world, but the first WCH to feature a certain young Norwegian, Ole Einar Björndalen. He missed a medal by just two seconds to place fourth in the sprint, but has since made up for it - Björndalen has collected 39 WCH medals to date.

1996 RUHPOLDING

Ruhpolding

Just as Antholz and Björndalen developed a special relationship, so it was with Magdalena Forsberg and Ruhpolding. The Swedish athlete, who in 1996 was still starting under her maiden name Wallin, won her first WCH medal in the Chiemgau Arena: a bronze in the sprint. Overall she won the World Cup total six times, a record unsurpassed even today.

1998 POKLUKA

The pursuit competitions had not been accepted onto the Olympic programme yet for Nagano 1998, so they were held on a mountain high above Bled, in Pokljuka. For the Slovenian community, the event was a taste test for the WCH three years later. A week later, Hochfilzen was the last ever World Championship to award medals in the team competition.

1999 KONTIOLAHTI

The mass start was added to the event programme to replace the discontinued team competition. However, with temperatures of down to minus 25 degrees in Kontiolahti, the mass start had to be postponed before the hosts had to admit defeat and cancel. The Individual and mass start world champions had to wait until the World Cup in Oslo to win their competitions.

Slovenia now got the chance to host an entire Biathlon World Championship in the beautiful setting of Pokljuka, a magnificent, sheltered venue nestled in the Julian Alps in Triglav National Park. Pavel Rostovtsev – with two gold medals – and the gold-winning Russian women's relay team ensured that Russia won the Nations Cup.

2003 KHANTY-MANSIYSK

What was new in the first WCH in the West Siberian towns of Khanty-Mansiysk was that the women's relay team only had a course length of 4 x 6 km. Previously, the distances between the competitors crossing the finishing line had been very big, so the course was shortened in the hope of making the race more tense and exciting. The women's pursuit was a completely different matter: the jury was utterly unable to ascertain who the winner was, even with the finish photo, so they announced a tie and awarded two golds.

2010 KHANTY-MANSIYSK

The very last competition of the season, in Khanty-Mansiysk, Russia, was devoted to finding the champions of the mixed relay, which had still not made it onto the Olympic programme. The hosts, Russia, had won gold in the women's competition and bronze in the men's in Vancouver but finished empty-handed in front of the home crowd. The tense, thrilling competition was the perfect promotion for the young discipline.

2011 KHANTY-MANSIYSK

The second WCH in Khanty-Mansiysk after 2003 saw cold, but beautiful weather. The Russian hosts had counted on winning more than just three silver medals. The most successful biathlete, Magdalena Neuner, went home with three golds and two silver medals in her suitcase.

2012 RUHPOLDING

The over 200 000 spectators in eight days of competition broke all previous visitor records.

Many German fans had come to see Magdalena Neuner, who had announced her retirement from biathlon. She took another two championship titles to say goodbye. Another two athletes were even more successful: Martin Fourcade and Tora Berger won three gold medals each.

2013 NOVE MESTO NA MORAVE

The first WCH for the Czech hosts was also a total triumph: Nove Mesto seems to be establishing itself as a new Eldorado of biathlon. On the actual sports side, it was the Norwegians who cleared the field. They stood on the top step of the podium eight times out of eleven WCH competitions. Emil Hegle Svendsen and Tora Berger in particular won four golds each.

2015 KONTIOLAHTI

It was Kontiolahti's third time hosting a WCH after 1990 and 1999. Although the majority of the medals (seven) were won by the Norwegians, France and Germany gained more titles with three golds each. The queen of the Championships was France's Marie Dorin Habert, who had given birth to a daughter half a year previously and had not won a single World Cup prior to that, but who won a WCH gold in the sprint and pursuit and silvers in both the women's and mixed relay.

2016 OSLO-HOLMENKOLLEN

presented by BMW

The 51st World Championships Biathlon in Oslo was an incredible biathlon festival with a crowd of 135,000 cheering spectators coming from 42 nations, twenty proud World Champion titles, 450 journalists from all over the world, 1,350 devoted volunteers and 11 adrenaline-pumping competitions. Each golden medalist got a chance to meet his majesty King of Norway - Harald V. The most frequent visitor at King's balcony was France's Martin Fourcade, who won each individual competition, except for Mass Start. In women's field, big surprise came from the ruling World Champion Tiril Eckhoff, who won this title in front of the home crowd.
